Candidate Referral

MMR's corporate recruitment division helps corporations who are serious about hiring senior level professionals in multicultural marketing and diversity, as well as diverse candidates for any top positions in marketing, public relations and communications to find the right executive. Companies can call on MMR to tap into its network of contacts in the industry - a "rolodex" compiled based on 21+ years since the founding of Multicultural Marketing Resources, Inc. - for specialized high-level recruitment searches. Recruitment services on a consulting basis can be a mini search i.e. simply provide you with a list of suggested candidates for your own outreach or we can then send your job description to the approved list.
